Third Game To Yankees

Heintzelman Blows Game in Eighth in Giving Three Walks; 9th Inning Victory

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—Jerry Coleman's single to left center with two out in the last of the ninth gave the New York Yankees their third straight world series victory today over the Phillies, 3-2, before 64,505 fans.

First Inning Phillies

Waitkus drilled a ground single past Coleman into right field.

After missing two sacrifice attempts, Ashburn struck out.

Jones tapped weakly in front of the plate and was thrown out by Lopat.

Ennis rapped a sharp grounder right at Johnson who threw him out.

Second Inning Yankees

Rizzuto walked on four pitches. On a hit and run play, Coleman sent a little bloop to Hammer who easily doubled up Rizzuto with a throw to Waitkus at first.

Berra walked on a full count.

After Heintzelman threw two balls to DiMaggio, Philadelphia's bullpen got busy. The bullpen pitchers are partly hidden by the stands in left field and it was impossible to identify them.

Ennis came in about a dozen steps for DiMaggio's high pop behind second base.

Third Inning Phillies

Coleman charged in on the grass to scoop up Sisler's slow roller and tossed him out at first.

Hammer smashed a single off Johnson's glove, the ball rolling into short left field before Rizzuto could retrieve it.

Seminick rifled a single past Rizzuto into center field, and Hammer with a burst of speed reached third just ahead of DiMaggio's throw.

Lopat charged off the mound to field Goliath's roller, faked Hammer back to third, then wheeled and whipped out Goliath at first. Seminick moved to second on the play.

Johnson made a nice pickup of Heintzelman's tricky bouncer and threw him out.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Fourth Inning Yankees

Talk For Move To Impeach

Republicans in Statement as to It on Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 6—(AP)—Efforts will be made to impeach Gov. Forrest Smith if Republicans win control of the Missouri House of Representatives, the Republican state committee said today.

A statement from committee headquarters said the move grew out of testimony before the Kefauver crime investigating committee in Kansas City last week.

It quoted Rep. Richard M. Webster of Carthage, president of the Missouri Federation of Young Republicans, as saying: "I am convinced we can show perjury was committed at the hearing and the truth should be revealed."

Rep. William D. Cruce of Eldorado Springs, minority floor leader, suggested impeachment earlier this year. The state committee statement said fear of that caused the governor to avoid calling a special legislative session.

Webster ridiculed Smith's testimony last week about the late Charles Binaggio, slain Kansas City Democratic leader and Smith supporter.

"The statement Smith made that he was not in the presence of Binaggio more than an hour from the time he first met the gangster until Binaggio was assassinated is ridiculous," Webster said.

"Binaggio, as every member of the legislature knows, was admitted to the governor's private office through a side door, and he came and departed as he pleased. No one was more welcome by the governor than Binaggio."

"No Democrat had more influence with the majority in the last session of the legislature than the Kansas City hoodlum. The Democrats knew that Binaggio controlled 30,000 votes in Jackson county and they ate out of his hand."

Signs Bill To Draft Doctors

Provisions to Call Physicians And Dentists in Armed Services

ABOARD YACHT COM-MANDER, Chesapeake Bay, Oct. 6—(AP)—President Truman signed today a proclamation providing for the drafting of physicians and dentists for the armed services.

Presidential Secretary Charles Ross announced Mr. Truman had put his signature to the document but gave no details of the proclamation's provisions to newsmen on this yacht who are trailing the President on his Chesapeake Bay cruise. Ross said the text of the proclamation would be made public later in Washington.

Papers to President

A courier plane brought a proposed draft of the proclamation, together with other business papers, to Mr. Truman this morning. Ross said Mr. Truman read over the paper and then signed it.

The President's secretary talked by radio-telephone from the Williamsburg to reporters on the Commander.

Asked how Mr. Truman was feeling after a week of cruising on the Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay, Ross said:

"The President is really feeling good. He is quite chipper. He is feeling a lot better physically."

He added that those with Mr. Truman "could almost see the fatigue drop away" during the cruise.

The chief executive and a small party of close aides have been cruising around the Potomac and the Chesapeake Bay on the yacht Williamsburg since last Saturday.

The Williamsburg anchored last night inside the mouth of the St. Mary's river, which empties into the Potomac just upstream from where it in turn flows into the Chesapeake.

Two Kansas City Patrolmen Suspended

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6—(AP)—Two Jackson county (Kansas City) deputy sheriffs have been suspended pending investigation of a complaint they had received money for returning firearms to a man.

Sheriff J. A. Purdome said the two are accused of accepting $25 for the return of the arms to a man living in rural Jackson county.

He said no formal charges have been filed.

Memorial For The Dead in South Korea-U.N. Cemetery

By Tom Lambert

WITH U.N. FORCES IN SOUTH KOREA, Oct. 6—(AP)—A spirited wind raised little swirls of dust among the white crosses, Stars of David and stark white stakes massed on the red-brown, dusty hillside.

The half-masted United Nations flag fluttered in the breeze.

Then the voice of the chaplain, Col. Frank Tobey, floated across the marines, soldiers and South Koreans at today's first memorial service at the only U.N. cemetery in this area:

"The Americans and South Koreans whose bodies lie beneath these crosses, these Stars of David, the white markers, died for the protection of all freedom loving people of the world."

The phrases drifted up the hillside, past the graves of Frank Pagano and Gerald Feinstein and Perry Bevens and over the withering leaves in the glazed blue clay pot at the head of Henry J. Hampton's grave.

To the west lay the sea, hardly visible. At the foot of the graveyard lay the road to Seoul, bustling with men and weapons, along which these dead had marched and fought a few days ago. To the east lay the tanks and guns with which the Communists had tried to halt the United Nations advance.

Gave Lives For Liberty

Then Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the Tenth Corps which took Seoul from the Reds, stepped to the microphone. His boots raised little spurts of dust in the afternoon sunshine.

"These men who lie here in this hallowed spot gave their lives, like Nathan Hale, for liberty and the dignity of man. They were inspired to risk death itself to preserve the right of an individual to go where he likes, do what he likes, think what he likes."

"I believe they died in the full knowledge that their individual contributions would be a distinct factor in the preservation of liberty."

"I believe they had a conviction that Communism must be driven from the conscience of human relations and that their efforts and others to follow it necessary will be the means of attaining this noble aim."

Almond's principles which guide those of the Communist ideology are repugnant to all of us, even those of our own nation whose weakness is favoring Communist license under the democratic safeguards of our own free governments.

He stepped back a pace... looked at the graves... then back at those here for the ceremony.

"Personally, I salute them. I ask you to do likewise as individuals, not as an organization."

Hands snapped to foreheads in salute. An army band began playing softly.

Then Almond took the first of four wreaths of fresh flowers and laid it on a grave. The marker bore no name. The dead was unknown.

Marine Maj. Gen. O. P. Smith then took a wreath and laid it on the grave of R. C. Mathony. Army Maj. Gen. David Barr placed one on the Grave of Walter L. Moore.

Reward Offered For Tomato Thrower

CANTON, O., Oct. 6—(AP)—Village council at nearby Wayneburg offered a $100 reward today to anyone who can find the person who hit Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) with a ripe tomato.

Taft was struck on the chest last Wednesday while making a political speech. Several other tomatoes fell at his feet. But he took scant notice and continued his speech.

"This unfortunate incident has been terribly embarrassing to the good people of the village," the council said.

Taft said after his address the town had made amends for the incident by presenting him with a basket of flowers.

Sedalia in the 1880s

"Sedalia still had many of the aspects of a frontier town," when "tramp printers" filled composing rooms of newspapers all over the country. Those were the days when "men still young could remember when Sedalia had been a cattle driven up from the south-west by the cowboys, the town in that respect ante-dating Dodge City."

Sedalia in those early days was purely legion and his tale of ad-

Bright Lights Object Whizzed by Plane

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 6—(AP)—A pilot says a mysterious flying object with "eight bright lights" flashed by his California Central Airlines plane last night.

Pilot Cecil Hardin said the object apparently had no fuselage. He sighted it at 4,500 feet.

Hardin said it flashed beneath his plane "at terrific speed" as he pulled up to avoid it.

There was no explanation of the object from any official source.

Public Affairs Dinner Given By B.P.W.C.

Civic Groups And Many From Other Clubs Attend

"Women and Their Color Personality" was the subject of a talk given Thursday night at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at Hotel Bothwell by Emory Bowman of the Bowman Paint company.

The happiness of man, Mr. Bowman said, depends on what we put into life and it is through our selection of color that our true personalities are reflected. He named six basic favorite colors and cited what had been proved through research to be the personality traits associated with the individual favorite basic color.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Hazel Barnett, president.

Invocation was by Mrs. Lily Thomas and pep singing was led by Miss Irene Ritchey with Mrs. Nellie Monegan at the piano.

The program was in charge of the public affairs committee of which Mrs. Ike Warren is chairman.

Out of Town Guests

It is customary at this annual meeting to invite out-of-town clubs and various civic groups with the following organizations represented: Miss Adeline Hardin, Slater, second vice president of the Missouri State Federation; Rotary club, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Bowman; Kiwanis and Knife and Fork clubs, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Yount; Lions club, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bucholz; Optimist, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hogan; Chamber of Commerce, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seaberg; club members from Booneville, Fayette, Slater, Warrensburg, Windsor and Higginsville and guests of local members were introduced in a body.

Representatives of both political parties, who had been invited, were introduced in a group.

Al V. Domingue, accompanied by Miss Geraldine Teufel, sang several solos.

Mrs. Ike Warren read a letter from the Chamber of Commerce pledging its co-operation to Miss Hazel Palmer who has just returned from New York City where she attended a National Federation Board meeting in her duties as National Public Affairs chairman, to which she was chosen.

Tells of Convention

Miss Palmer in response thanked the Sedalia club for its support and gave a brief resume of the meeting just attended. She told of the working out of the program for the ensuing year with the objective: "Full Partnership in the Job Ahead."

At the conclusion of Miss Palmer's report Mrs. Frank Wagner presented her with a gift from the Public Affairs committee of which Mrs. Ike Warren is chairman. Members of the committee are: Miss Hazel Palmer, Miss Phyllis Bush, chairman of the committee, programs and her committee, Miss Alice Scott, Mrs. Pearl Stuart and Mrs. Mary Jane Mullins, and decorations, Mrs. Frank Wagner, chairman, Miss Sarah Yarnell, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Mrs. Lena Boothe, Miss Pearl Rose, Mrs. Mabel Menefee and Mrs. N. L. Nelson.

Mrs. Warren announced that National Business Women's Week will be October 15-21 at which time there will be special activities with Mrs. Lena Boothe in charge of church and luncheon reservations and Miss Emilie Brunjes in charge of down town displays.

In Sedalia the present school tax is $1.00 on each $100 assessed valuation. This means that out of 636 school districts valuation rate, Sedalia ranks 567th or towards the bottom of the list on valuation that ranges from $4.00 to 75c. The proposed amendment means that a levy will be for but one year unless the voters vote it to last longer. In past attempts to pass a levy by the Sedalia Board of Education, it has failed for lack of a two-thirds majority, although it did have a plain majority.

Emory Bowman addressed the B. & P. W. club at its public affairs dinner Thursday evening at Hotel Bothwell.

Jaycees in Meeting on Thursday Eve

Several Important Topics Taken up At Dinner Session

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce met Thursday night at Dan's Pioneer room with 36 members in attendance. "Bob" Wall, president of the Junior Chamber, presided over the meeting. Bert Hathaway gave the invocation.

After the dinner a very important meeting was held. New members present were Harold Barrick, lawyer and Homer Quisenberry of the Home Lumber company.

Secretary Harold Bamberg read the minutes of the last meeting and called roll.

The following business was conducted: The Junior Chamber of Commerce is now on the Sedalia Civic club council, which makes decisions on projects and civic work undertaken in Sedalia. The admittance came mainly through the efforts of Bert Hathaway. The JC's signed the Declaration of Freedom. This was passed around to all members and in turn they signed it.

Fall Meet Oct. 21-22

It was announced that the fall board meeting will be held in Jefferson City on October 21 and 22 and that as many members as possible should attend this meeting and represent the Sedalia JC's.

In the main business of the evening the JC's voted unanimously to support Amendment No. 1 of the Missouri constitution. As the constitution now provides it takes a two-thirds majority to pass a tax levy but under the proposed amendment it would only take a majority. It was pointed out that under the present ruling that the minority of the people controlled the vote under such a proposal. In fourteen of the states no vote is required at all, but only two has to be passed by the state lawmakers. In 34 states a majority is required and Missouri is but one of nine states that require the present two-thirds.

In Sedalia the present school tax is $1.00 on each $100 assessed valuation. This means that out of 636 school districts valuation rate, Sedalia ranks 567th or towards the bottom of the list on valuation that ranges from $4.00 to 75c. Killed When Car Hit Bridge

MARYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 6—(AP)—An automobile smashed into a concrete bridge railing near here late yesterday, killing 21-year-old Betty Jo Kokesch and seriously injuring her sister, Mary Jane, 16.

The younger girl is being treated in a hospital here. She was the driver of the car.

The accident occurred on Highway 4, just west of the Nodaway county line.

Symington Seeks An Agreement With Gen. L. B. Hershey

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—(AP)—W. Stuart Symington, head man in the national mobilization effort, disagreed Thursday with some of the tough draft ideas advanced by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief.

The split showed up most clearly over armed service for scientifically trained men, but there were other points to be cleared up on how the available manpower shall be divided among the fighting forces and other defense claimants.

Symington as mobilization coordinator arranged a luncheon session tomorrow with Secretary of Defense Marshall, to try for "an overall, agreed policy." Sitting in will be Secretary of Labor Tobin to whom President Truman has assigned top manpower responsibilities.

Symington Address Mayors

Symington, chairman of the National Securities Resources Board, took his stand in an address to the United States conference of mayors, meeting in special session here, and told the city executives of the plan for tomorrow's get-together.

He did not mention Hershey by name but told the mayors he feels that "our scientists should be given exemption" from military service. He said further that cities should be protected against too heavy loss of police and firemen in view of the possibility of atomic attack and consequent public emergency.

"I have read recently that some other people don't feel the same way I do about it," Symington said. "I don't see anything to do but to sit down with a great leader like Secretary Marshall and try to solve the problem."

"Sold A Lot of Baloney"

Hershey's views on who should be subject to the draft were set forth Tuesday night in a speech. He declared that Americans have been sold "a lot of baloney" about the need of blanket deferment for scientists and professional men because there are not enough of them.

"We've never had enough scientific people," the general said, "but there never are enough men over there fighting either."

In another speech yesterday Hershey said selective service is ready with deferment for really qualified men but on guard against "phony" professionals seeking deferment.

The draft director also has called for induction of veterans under 26 years old, a general tighter deferment policy, and a relaxation of standards under which a high percentage of men furnished by draft boards have been ejected by the army.

Oil Tank Blast Injures Seven

EAST PRAIRIE, Mo., Oct. 6—(AP)—An underground tank filled with Diesel fuel oil exploded this afternoon critically injuring seven persons who were removed to a hospital at Cairo, Ill. Several others were less seriously hurt.

First reports that one man was killed were corrected by authorities digging into the ruins.

The tank was beneath the smoldering ruins of the East Prairie Milling Company plant which burned last night. Four of the injured were working around the ruins and the other three seriously hurt were by standers.

PRAGUE, Oct. 6—(AP)—Eight people accused of spying for the British and Americans were convicted today in Brno, Moravia. Two were sentenced to life imprisonment and the rest to terms ranging from 12 to 22 years.

Tottering Reds Being Clamped in Vise by Forces In Forward Position

By Russell Brines

TOKYO, Oct. 6—(AP)—South Korean troops punched 20 miles deeper into Communist North Korea today on the east coast while other Allied forces massed for the expected big push to the Red heartland.

The forward South Koreans were more than 75 miles beyond parallel 38, the border where they had crossed into enemy territory last Sunday.

Arrayed below the boundary was the bulk of the poised 157,000 United Nations troops. Air and naval support was at the ready for an offensive.

Another vise apparently was being forced to crush the remnants of the reeling Reds—officially estimated by MacArthur's headquarters to have suffered 200,000 casualties since their June 25 invasion.

Forty thousand of the Red manpower losses were listed as war prisoners of the allies.

The other casualties admittedly included some duplications. This means a man might have been wounded, removed and then returned to battle, wounded again and pressed into action again.

A MacArthur spokesman declined to speculate on how many of the Red casualties were dead men.

Look 40,000 Prisoners

The Reds' heaviest losses of men—and materiel—have been suffered since Sept. 15 when the allies leaped to the offensive climaxed by the liberation of Seoul and entrapment of Red divisions in the south.

Of the 40,000 Communist prisoners-of-war, 14,028 were listed as taken in three days this week. This presumably was in the continuing mopping up of stragglers bands widely scattered in the south and around Seoul.

The deep plunge into North Korea on the east coast was reported by AP correspondent William Jorden, traveling with the South Koreans.

Jorden said the South Korean Third division pushed off after an artillery exchange with the Reds near Changchon, some 60 miles north of parallel 38, and by nightfall had neared Tongchon.

There was virtually no Red resistance. A blown-up bridge slowed the advance for a few hours.

Tongchon is 32 miles southeast of Wonsan, big Red industrial center on the east coast.

The Reds abandoned equipment to the oncoming South Koreans in their haste to break off combat and flee.

Communist prisoners taken in the long drive northward have reported a stand would be made at Wonsan, or on its outskirts. Prisoners taken Thursday said they heard Russian advisers were helping prepare the fortifications there.

Reds Rush Defenses

At Wonsan and along a line stretching from Haeju on the west coast, to Kwachon in the central-east sector, the Reds rushed work on defenses above parallel 38.

MacArthur's repeated surrender demands that began last Sunday were still ignored.

Thousands For Rocket 'If' Trip

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(P)—The first interplanetary rocket will be plenty crowded if Hayden planetarium "reservation" blanks are any criterion.

The planetarium announced yesterday that 18,000 persons have signed up for the "if" trip.

Each prospective passenger gets a space-ship time schedule, on which the moon is 9 1/2 hours away—figuring a speed of 25,000 miles per hour.

The planetarium says it assumes no responsibility for delays en route.

Over Fifty Fail to Heed Summons

Scarface Al. But none got called. All were told to come back today.

Also ready to testify but not called were lawyers, politicians, accountants and racing news men. They also were ordered to return today.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson was scheduled to be among the first to appear at today's closed hearing before the committee. Kefauver was the only committee member present at yesterday's session. He indicated the closed hearings may continue through Saturday. He said he could not set a date for any public hearings here.

Plan Interstate Ban

The committee chairman, in a speech last night before the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, said recommendations to halt interstate criminal activities will come out of the present inquiry.

Kefauver said yesterday's hearings included a full discussion of the slaying on Sept. 25 of William J. Drury, a former police lieutenant. He questioned State's Attorney John S. Boyle, Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, Police Commissioner John Prendergast and Sheriff Elmer Michael Walsh.

Drury, who was a private investigator, was to have testified before the committee.

Boyle in his testimony related he once did "corporate business" for the former Trans-American News Publishing company. This firm was set up in March, 1946 as a competitor of the multi-million dollar race information empire of the late James M. Ragen.

Ragen was ambushed in gangland style in June, 1946, and died seven weeks later from complications resulting from his gunshot wounds. In an affidavit made public by the state's attorney after Ragen's death, Ragen accused remnants of the old Capone gang of "muscling in" on his business and trying to take it over.

After his testimony, Doyle told newsmen that Trans-American was the only client he ever had during his years of private legal practice that "was in any way questionable, as it turned out later."

He said he represented the company for "nine or ten months" in 1946. He said he received a fee of $2,500.

"It was a Delaware corporation and had to make periodic reports to that state and also to

Truck Driver Has Troubles

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 6.—(P)—A truck driver who told the state he attempted to bypass a weight station, has run into a bit of difficulty as a result.

As the matter stands today, the driver, James Leo Market, 25, of South Portland, Me.,

1. Has been fined $300 and costs for an overloaded truck; 2. Has been sued for $200 damages; and 3. Is temporarily, at least, the state of Illinois on its activities," Boyle said. "I handled that work."

Trans-American operated at first in Chicago, Joliet and East St. Louis, Ill., and then expanded coast to coast. It quit business in June, 1947, leaving the race information field largely to the continental news service, formerly operated by Ragen.

without his vehicle. The truck was attached in the suit.

According to Sergeant Lloyd Swartz of the Highway Patrol, Market admitted he was attempting to bypass the Highway 24 weight station here when he took to a gravel road two miles east of Moberly. The truck, loaded with frozen ocean perch, skidded on the gravel, overturned and struck a utility pole.

The Missouri Power and Light Co. has filed the suit for damages to the pole.

Acheson Warns Against Soviet Peace Offensive

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Acheson has been urging President Truman to deliver a fireside chat warning the nation against falling for the Russian peace offensive.

Acheson fears that victory in Korea will lull Americans into forgetting that Western Europe is still Russia's No. 1 objective and that to let down now would prove disastrous later. Therefore, he has suggested the President give a blunt talk to the people, perhaps on Columbus Day, and in this way explode Moscow's peace talk.

Acheson wants the President to point out that Russia still has 75 divisions in Eastern Germany—15 of them armored—and is now stockpiling huge quantities of food and raw materials—something you do only when you are preparing for war.

Korean Costs Increase

Most people don't realize that the cost of the Korean war to the taxpayers has been increased by about five billion dollars, because of two factors: 1. Unpatriotic war manufacturers and raw-material dealers have hiked prices; 2. President Truman, though given ample power by Congress, has failed to invoke price controls.

As a result, it now costs the armed services more for their needs, without exception, than they paid before the Korean outbreak.

Probably the most shameful is the sudden increase in the price of medical and surgical goods, urgently needed to save lives in Korea. The Army must now pay $220 for an instrument and medicine cabinet that cost only $195 before the Korean war. The price of glycerin, a medical compound in demand in military hospitals, has shot up 114 per cent. Even rubber surgical gloves for operating on wounded soldiers have increased in price from 17 to 22 cents per pair.

The high-octane aviation fuel that keeps our planes flying over Korea costs 30 per cent more than before the war. At the same time, fuel oil has shot up 54 per cent. The Air Force is also paying as high as 175 per cent more for resistors, actuators and other electronic spares for aircraft, and the Navy is paying 10 to 12 per cent more for ship parts than these same items cost before K-day.

In addition to paying 62 per cent more for zinc, the Army and Navy had to get tough before they could even buy enough zinc for batteries urgently needed in Korea. Assistant Secretary of the Army Alexander and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Koehler personally had to put pressure on the zinc companies in order to get military orders filled.

Believe it or not, these companies—Anaconda, Sullivan Mining, American Smelting and Refining, and American Zinc Company of Illinois—wanted to take care of their civilian clients first rather than risk losing business. Now the same companies are protesting against supplying zinc for the nation's strategic stockpile.

The basic commodities used in the manufacture of military items were the first to skyrocket after Korea. Crude rubber shot up 162 per cent, with some British companies charging as high as 300 per cent above the pre-Korean price. The price of wool, so essential for the freezing Korean winter, increased 61 per cent. Cotton for summer uniforms shot up 50 per cent. Steel scrap, which sold for $24 a ton in Philadelphia before the Korean war, now costs $38 per ton. The National Lead Company also increased the price of antimony, necessary for the hardening of steel, three and one-half cents a pound.

Here are a few other comparisons between the prices the armed forces paid before and after the Korean war began: Radio receivers up from $550 to $910 a set; radiac training sets, $84.90 to $289; shipping boxes, 82 cents to $1.24 each; five-gallon gasoline drums, $1.79 to $1.93 each; khaki trousers, 74 cents to 84 cents a pair; adhesive tape, 26 cents to 30 cents a roll; tires, $16.14 to $20.46 each; fire hose, $20.64 to $23.10 per 50 feet; ground interrogator, $1,842 to $2,303 each.

These are typical of the higher prices the armed services are paying for everything. Yet President Truman, with a price control act on his desk giving him ample power, has steadfastly refused to move.

First Jet Ride

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter is still a little breathless from his first jet ride—a hasty, spur-of-the-moment flight just before he left Fort Worth, Texas, last week.

Still in his double-breasted suit, the mild-mannered Air Force boss was stuffed into a jet suit, a helmet was clamped on his head and the chin strap cinched tightly under his jaw. Just as he opened his mouth to comment, an oxygen hose was thrust into his mouth, and he was deposited unceremoniously in an F-80 jet fighter.

The plane zoomed into the Texas sky, cut a few capers in the glint of the sun, then swooshed back to a landing. Finletter was a little wobbly as he crawled out of the cockpit. The helmet was popped off his head like a cork, leaving an imprint of the tight-fitting headgear on his bald head.

Perspiration washed his face, and his double-breasted suit was damp from the 90-degree Texas heat.

Not until then did the jet pilot remember to tell Finletter that it was a good thing he didn't tamper with the lever on his seat. It would have catapulted him out into space, and left him to depend on his parachute to get down.

Travel Would Certainly Prove Broadening For India's Nehru

By Bruce Blossat

No Asiatic leader matches the influence Prime Minister Nehru of India carries in the Far East. Yet Nehru unfortunately seems the hardest man in the world to convince of the evil of Russian communism. He persists in viewing the U. S. and other western nations almost as an equal menace, if not a greater one.

Since western colonial empires are but frail shadows of their former selves, this attitude is extremely puzzling. For the plain record of imperialistic Russian communism in Europe and Asia is grimmer and more brutal by far than the worst sins committed in the name of colonialism.

Because Nehru either can't or won't see this, it might be helpful if he took a little trip. He ought to run up to Seoul and talk to some of the Korean residents who have experienced Red rule for the past three months. Nehru, of course, would never take the West's word for what happened there. But the city's inhabitants are native Asiatics: They're the very people Nehru wants to save from foreign oppression. He ought to believe their story first-hand.

They'd tell him that when the North Korean Reds swept into Seoul they made their first order of business the killing of actual or suspected anti-Communists. Red troops and young Communist groups seized men and women on the streets. A mob would always gather when they grabbed a particular person. The crowd was asked: "Is this man an enemy of the people?" If the answer was yes, he was shot on the spot.

Altogether about 4000 persons were killed through these "curbstone courts."

Thousands of other suspected or actual anti-Reds were thrown into jail. They've never been seen or heard from since. Many residents told reporters that it seemed the Communists had come on a looting and killing mission and didn't care what the Korean people thought of communism.

The Red administration for the city, imported from the north, did nothing constructive. Its prime function appeared to be to legalize barbarism.

These North Korean Reds, who represent no one but themselves and their Russian masters (discreetly in the background), are the people Nehru feels should have allowed to retire safely behind the artificial 38th parallel to plot new depredations in the future. These are the men he fancies are involved in a "dispute" with the South Koreans.

There is no dispute and there are no issues—except the overriding one whether the Korean people are to be left alone or are to be ground under the heel of Red dictatorship.

These North Korean Reds are the men whom Nehru finds it so difficult to distinguish from the G.I.'s and other United Nations fighting forces who went into Korea to halt Russian aggression.

Yes, indeed, in Nehru's case, travel certainly should prove broadening.

Line Drawn in Germany Should Extend Around Entire Globe

Wars sometimes arise from an aggressor's ignorance of his intended victim's will or ability to resist. Winston Churchill, for one, believes World War II arose thus; he calls it the "unnecessary war."

Many observers contend Russia never would have goaded the North Koreans into war had she realized how the United States and others in the United Nations would respond.

The Soviet Union and her satellites are today the only nations in the world likely to launch aggressive moves of major consequence. Russia has made clear in Korea that she's willing to undertake military action to gain her ends.

Knowing these things, it seems that the least the free world can do is to make known to Moscow that any new aggression will not go unchallenged. We can't just say this in general terms; we've got to be specific, to draw a distinct line across the globe and say: "No farther."

The Big Three foreign ministers' declaration on Germany therefore is highly commendable. Britain, France and the United States pledge that they will regard any attack "from any quarter" upon either West Germany or Berlin as an attack upon themselves.

That was plain speaking which ought to be readily grasped in Moscow. It means any move against Germany either by Russia, a satellite nation or by the East German Communist "stooge" government will precipitate general war with the West.

Thus the critical line has been drawn in the most vital sector of Europe—the portion Russia certainly views as the greatest prize she could win. And that's a big step forward.

Yet it's not enough. The line must be extended throughout Europe, through the Middle East and across Asia. Our presence in Korea makes it evident we believe Communist encroachment must be prevented there; but that's only a tiny segment of sprawling Asia.

What would we do if Chinese Reds, prodded by Russia, lent substantial aid to Communist forces in Indo-China, or Malaya, or even India? What about Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia?

Until that line is firmly drawn everywhere, we can't claim we have dispelled possible ignorance in the Kremlin about our intent to resist. So let's draw a big red pencil line on the map from Korea clear around to the Baltic. And ship a copy airmail special delivery to Joseph Stalin, Moscow.

DEFLECTED GRACE

If "pagans waste their pains," then we as Christians must learn to make our pains productive. Yesterday we saw that pain can be used for a purpose—redemptive pain. Paul speaks of "the pain God is allowed to guide" (II Corinthians 7:10, Moffatt)—there can be a God-guided pain. Pain can be taken up into the purposes of God and transformed into finer character, greater tenderness, and more general usefulness. It can be made into the pains of childbirth—it can bring forth new life.

Take one of the most difficult pains to bear—the frustration of one's life plans. This often throws confusion into everything, for everything had been geared into those life plans. How did Jesus meet such a situation? A small incident reveals His secret.

When Jesus healed the demoniac, the people came and saw the man, seated, "clothed, and in his right mind; and they were afraid." Afraid of what? They begged Jesus "to depart out of their coasts." His presence had cost them too much. He thought men were worth more than swine. Anyone who thinks that is dangerous! It is disconcerting—and to some, discouraging—to find one's best endeavors blocked by ignorance and self-centered greed.

But was Jesus blocked by this ignorance and greed? No; He was not blocked, but diverted. His grace was not dammed, but deflected. It simply turned in another direction. So He embarked—frustrated? Oh, no! The grace was deflected toward other people and situations. He did some of the greatest things of His life as a result of that blocking—that blocking, taught regarding conservatism, healed a woman with a hemorrhage, raised the dead, and so on and on. The frustration turned to fruitfulness. If He couldn't do this, He could do that. And that "that" had in it a deeper quality of character—it had in it a victory over bitterness and resentment. So "that" was finer than "this." He gained not only victory, but victory—plus!

O Christ, I will be undeterred by petty or by decisive blocking of my plans. In neither case will I stop. I will find a way around if I cannot get through. Give me that resistance I will rise. Help me to be equal to anything—by Thy power. Amen.

ON deck the following morning, Ed learned from the chatter Mrs. Winwood that Gil Summerfield had gone ashore in the small motorboat that the cruiser carried.

"He went very early, bag and baggage," Mrs. Winwood said, amplifying her news. "Must have been something pretty important."

"Must have been," agreed Ed. But she wrinkled her forehead, puzzled. It wasn't like Gil to go off without saying goodby to her.

Northcott explained blandly, at lunch.

"Mr. Summerfield received an urgent message by radio," he said. "A business matter. It's a shame it had to spoil his week-end."

All afternoon the cruiser slid through a sea calm and still, like blue glass. Reagan, who seemed to be avoiding Ed, occupied his time by fishing with Northcott and Mr. Winwood. It left Ed to the mercy of the ladies and she soon decided that Mrs. Northcott's conversation was almost as trivial as Mrs. Winwood's. As the day wore on, she grew rather bored.

At precisely 5 o'clock, however, the boredom vanished.

Mrs. Northcott had gone for a nap and Mrs. Winwood had wandered off to supervise the fishing. Ed escaped to the afterdeck with a novel borrowed from the ship's little library. She had been reading for half an hour when a shadow fell across her book.

She looked up quickly. Lewis Northcott stood there, faintly smiling.

"I've been waiting," he said, dropping into a chair next to hers, "to have a little talk with you."

Ah, Ed thought, being invited on this cruise was not entirely social. And then something—perhaps it was the little smile curling Northcott's lips—warned her of danger.

But she said, encouragingly,

"Yes, Mr. Northcott?"

For a moment he gazed out over the still water. Then his eyes came back, seemed to fix on hers almost hypnotically.

"I'm the kind of a man," he said abruptly, "who usually gets what he wants."

It was not said with any brag-dadocio. Rather, it was a cold statement of fact. And Ed knew that it prefaced something. She felt herself tensing, involuntarily. But she kept her voice light.

"You sound," she said, "as if I have something that you want."

His colorless eyes stared at her even harder. "You have?"

"And what might that be?" Ed asked, in the same light tone.

"An advertising agency," said Northcott quietly.

Ed started. "Perhaps I'm stupid, Mr. Northcott," she said. "But I don't seem to understand."

"I'll make it a little clearer," Northcott smiled again. "You have an advertising agency. I want to buy it."

"Oh!" She strove to keep astonishment from showing on her face. "This is rather surprising, Mr. Northcott. But suppose it isn't for sale?"

HE waved this aside. "It's been my experience, Miss Frey, that everything is for sale—if the price is right."

"But why," Ed asked, to gain time, "do you want our agency in particular? It would be easy enough for you to start an agency."

"My reasons," Northcott said, "aren't particularly pertinent to this talk. Miss Frey, I won't cloud the issue with words. You own 51 per cent of the stock of Frey & Company, and you don't want to sell. But let me make my offer. I'll give you . . ."

Ed caught her breath. He had named a figure that staggered her. "Frankly," Ed said slowly, "I am wondering why you are willing to pay more than the stock is worth."

Northcott said easily, "A buyer's prerogative, for one thing. For another, you do not wish to sell. Therefore, I have to make you a real inducement. For still a third, you can't get anything good in this world without paying for it and, usually, paying high. It's best to tell you that I have—associates."

FOR just a moment Edith Frey was tempted. By pronouncing a word of one syllable, she could rid her life of all annoyance and worry. She could be absolutely free to live as she liked, to go where she would, without strings or anchors. Her lips began to frame to the word. But they never uttered it. For, suddenly, she remembered old Cornelius Frey, pale and shrunken, lying in the great four-poster bed. Death on the threshold of the room, but his eyes brilliant, intelligent, implacable as ever. "I built up my business and, dead or alive, I want it to go on. And I want it to stay in my own family."

No, she couldn't do it. She couldn't go against a wish expressed like that, and at such a time. It was too much like—like selling her father out.

"It's a wonderful offer, Mr. Northcott," she said. "A very generous one. But"—she shook her head—"the answer is no."

He looked at her almost unbelievably. "Are you sure you're being wise, Miss Frey?" he said.

"I'm only doing what I have to do. I'd rather not discuss my reasons."

Northcott had evaded explaining his desire to buy. Why, then, should she explain her refusal to sell? "I suppose, though," she added, "that this will change things a great deal."

"It could," Northcott's eyes were dangerous now. "You refer to the account, of course. Well, I haven't made up my mind yet what I'll do about that." He arose suddenly and leaned over the rail. "I was thinking of something else, Miss Frey."

• Q's and A's

Q—Who wrote the Tales of Mother Goose?

A—Charles Perrault, a French poet. His "Tales of Mother Goose" have earned him the title of the inventor of French fairy tales.

Q—Did the dollar sign result from a combination of U. S. letters standing for United States?

A—Among coin collectors, it long has been taken for granted that the sign originated from a Mexican abbreviation of Ps for pesos or piastres. This resulted through dropping the S over the P, or combining them. There is evidence that the dollar sign was used long before there was a United States.

There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown." (p. 469)

The State And God

From what source do governments derive their authority? Many people would off-handedly reply: "From the people." But when they are asked whence the people receive power, they can only answer: "From God."

"There exists no authority except from God," St. Paul teaches, "and those who exist have been appointed by God." The nature of man calls for civil authority, and since God created man with this particular nature, He is rightly regarded as the ultimate source of all civil authority.

So far as God's law is concerned, it is immaterial whether a government is an absolute monarchy or a liberal democracy. It is only when a government defies the over-all sovereignty of God and impinges upon man's natural and God-given rights that it ceases to be moral and no longer commands respect and loyalty.

Such was the case when Nazism overspread Germany and all the familiar devices of totalitarianism were employed to keep the people in subjection. Hitler's government was founded on the idolatrous doctrine that man exists for the State rather than that the State exists for man. What this defiance of Divine authority meant is recorded in the incredible excesses and inhumanities which made Germany and the countries which later came into the Nazi orbit veritable hells on earth.

The totalitarian heresy is being perpetuated today in countries now under Communist domination. It is the Hammer and Sickle rather than the Swastika that now marks the concentration camps. Meanwhile, freedom of opinion and of religion is denied. There are no free elections, no free newspapers—only a system of control and intimidation that reduces men to slavery. Wherever Communism flourishes, the name of God is mocked.

So long as Communist governments defy God's authority they can never be condoned. These governments today are witnesses—even if negatively and unwittingly—to the need and value of respecting God's supreme authority. So long as Communism usurps the place of God in human lives and seeks to strip men of their essential dignity and freedom, so long will justice and reason cry out against it.

The Spirit of Christ

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
"If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His." That is the clear, explicit statement, as revealed in Romans 8:9, of what it means to be a Christian.

But what is the spirit of Christ? And what does it mean to have it?

The spirit of any man is evidenced in his life and character and in his words and deeds. This was true of the Christ. It is in Jesus and Nazareth, in all that He said and did, in all the records of that wonderful life that we must know and understand the spirit of Christ.

We see that spirit revealed in what Jesus repeatedly said concerning Himself, His mission and His purpose. That it is the very essence of a true Christian—to have a mission and purpose.

A Christian is not a drifter, living haphazardly from day to day. In the Lord's prayer he prays for daily bread and that daily bread is for the sustenance of a well-directed life, devoted to the will of God, to be done in earth as in heaven.

It was in that will of the Father that the spirit of Christ, the mission and purpose of Jesus, centered. He came to give life, and to give it more abundantly. He came with a gospel of God's grace to seek and to save the lost. He came to bear witness unto truth, to proclaim the truth that would set men free.

Holiness, honesty, truth, love and grace—these are the marks of the spirit of Christ. For the true Christian they are elaborated and listed as the fruits of the Spirit, in Galatians 5:22, "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law."

We are in a world of war; suspicious, jealousies, hatreds are rife, not only in individuals, but in organizations and nations. Crime and violence, drunkenness and debauchery, are in almost every community. The law that is, or ought to be, against these things is powerless in some of our largest, and what ought to be our finest and most progressive, cities, often because of the corruption and dishonesty of the very officials who have sworn to enforce the law.

We are living in a complex, confused, difficult, and in many respects a corrupt time. But the fruits of the spirit, the qualities of the true Christian, are essential to good living, safety, happiness and true prosperity in society. There is no true way of life but God's way, made manifest in the life and spirit of the Christ. The greatest need of the world, as it has even been, is for true Christians, who will follow that way and live in that spirit.

'U. S. to Lead Way to Peace'

Lutherans Name Russia as The Chief Obstacle

DES MOINES, Oct. 6.—(P)—An "inescapable responsibility" rests on the United States to lead the way to peace, delegates to a national Lutheran church convention were told here today.

A statement presented to the 17th biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America termed Russia and its satellite governments "the major obstacle to peace."

The statement, endorsed by the ULCA's Board of Social Missions, suggested a five-point program of action for individuals and a four-point program of procedure for the U. S. government, which the board said were designed to further the cause of permanent peace.

Soviet powers, the statement said, seek their goal of material betterment "by riding roughshod over the spiritual reality of man and by using processes of coercion, infiltration and revolution."

The statement warned that "All nations profess the desire for peace, but, prompted by different philosophies and different motives, are moving dangerously toward the threshold of world catastrophe."

"Upon the government of the United States, by virtue of its present power and its tradition of freedom, rests an inescapable responsibility to lead the way in reversing the mad trend toward a third world war," the statement said.

Suggestions Presented

Its suggestions to the government were:

1. Support in the United Nations every measure which will serve to deter further aggression, for example, the operation of a network of international observer commissions to be located at every potential danger spot throughout the world.

2. While making clear its reluctance but sufficient readiness to meet military aggression, cooperate in creating a world security in which conflicting ideologies may compete peacefully and guard against incidents which could precipitate fighting on a world scale.

3. Set an example of true democracy in domestic practice and speed the completion of an adequate international covenant of human rights.

4. Recognizing that Soviet Communism finds an open door in areas of economic deficiency, press forward with a program of economic development of those countries where such assistance is needed.

Stunt Pilot One of Feature Attractions For Air Show

Wilbur Staib, an internationally known stunt pilot from Kansas City, Mo., will be one of the feature attractions of the air show in Sedalia Sunday, October 8 at the Municipal airport, it was announced today by Capt. William L. Chick, commanding officer of Battery "C" of the national guard.

Staib was the star of this year's all-American air maneuvers in Miami, Florida and Capt. Chick said the national guard considers itself quite fortunate in obtaining his services for the show. For his appearance here, Staib will fly his own midjet bi-plane which has only a 14-foot wing spread. The ship was built by himself especially for acrobatic flying. As a finale to his many thrilling maneuvers, Staib swoops down to within only a few feet of the ground while flying upside down and, with his wheels, cuts a ribbon held aloft on two poles. All of Staib's maneuvers are performed at extremely low altitudes directly in front of the crowd.

Arrangements have been completed at the field to handle upwards of 25,000 spectators and 200 visiting aircraft. Owing to the cancellation of this year's Cleveland National Air Races, the national guard has been able to obtain services of the top pilots and stunt men in the United States.

No expense has been spared in bringing them to Sedalia. Capt. Chick also announced that the world series will be broadcast over the public address system.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Seventh Inning Yankees

Ennis caught Mize's long fly a few feet in front of the right field barrier.

Johnson struck out.

Sisler flied to Mape's who made a nice running catch in right center.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Eighth Inning Phillies

Ashburn slashed a single past Mize into right field.

Jones dropped a sacrifice bunt down the first baseline and was out, Mize to Coleman who covered first.

DiMaggio loped in to take in Ennis' high fly in left-center.

Sisler sent a high pop to Mize near first base.

Eighth Inning Yankees

Gene Woodling, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Lopat.

The attendance was announced as 64,504 paid.

Woodling popped to Hamner.

Jones speared Rizzuto's sharp rap and whipped him out at first in a lightning play.

Coleman walked on a full count.

Berra also walked on four pitches.

That brought Manager Eddie Sawyer out to the mound to confer with his battery.

The first pitch to DiMaggio was high. Heintzelman's second pitch was outside for ball two. Another high and outside pitch made it ball three. DiMaggio walked on four pitches to load the bases.

It was Heintzelman's sixth pass.

Heintzelman was replaced by Jim Konstanty.

Bobby Brown, a lefthanded batter, went in to hit for Bauer and sent a roller to Hamner who in his anxiety to start a force play fumbled and Coleman scored with the tying run on the error.

Mize fouled out to Jones near the third base field boxes.

One run, no hits, one error, three left.

Ninth Inning Phillies

Joe Collins is now playing first base, Gene Woodling in left field, and Tom Ferrick pitching for the Yankees.

Hamner clouted Ferrick's first pitch between DiMaggio and Woodling in left-center for a double. Only a barehanded stop by DiMaggio prevented Hamner from stretching it.

Seminick bunted a low pop fly to third which Johnson could have caught. He elected, however, to let it bounce but Hamner sneaked into third safely and Johnson barely threw out Seminick at first. It was scored as a sacrifice.

Goliath was purposely walked. Dick Whitman batted for Konstanty.

Whitman bounced to Collins whose throw to Berra nipped Hamner at the plate. Goliath advanced to second on the play.

Ralph Caballero went in to run for Goliath.

Mape's came in to get under Waitkus' fly in short right.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Ninth Inning Yankees

Jimmy Bloodworth now playing second base, and Russ Meyer pitching for the Phillies.

The paid attendance was announced again, this time as 64,505. Johnson lined to Mayo in left. Mape's struck out.

Woodling beat out an infield single to Bloodworth who fum-

Penetration in North Korea by Troops of South to 75 Miles

The steady push of the South Korean Third division on the dusty coastal road toward Wonsan appeared to be taking on added significance. The possibility of a sledge hammer land-sea-air concentration against the Red industrial center was pointed up by these other events:

Conferences between Capt. Fred Stetler, chief of staff of the east coastal naval support fleet, and Gen. Lee Cong Chan of the South Korean army;

Re-establishment of Pohang airstrip — some 250 miles south of Wonsan — as a U. S. Fifth air force fighter base for close support of Korean republican east coast forces; and

A flying visit to the east coast just below parallel 38 last weekend by Lt. Gen. Walter H. Walker, U. S. Eighth army commander, and Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth air force commander.

To these factors could be added the fact that the republican Third division has plunged northward without apparent regard for its lengthening supply line from South Korea.

Wonsan is 90 air miles east of the Communist capital of Pyongyang in the waist of the peninsula. One of North Korea's major railline and highway systems connects the two cities.

Wonsan's capture could start two big allied prongs aimed at the Red capital. One westward from Wonsan, the other shooting up north from Seoul, the liberated republican capital 125 miles south and east of Pyongyang.

are settled.

All JC chapters were asked to vote whether they approved admittance of Communist China or not to the United Nations. It was mentioned that if "Commie" China was admitted it would be possible for Russia and Red China to paralyze the work of the UN by walking out on the assembly if they were against something tabled. Because the council would be powerless to make a decision with two members not present.

Put Up Chest Posters

Community Chest posters will be put up over the city by the JCs.

New projects that the local club might possibly take up are to put scotch lights on bikes in Sedalia. This shows up at night and is very good for the safety of the bike riders.

A safety campaign was discussed and is to be checked on to see if something can be done to "crack down" on the reckless drivers in the town.

The meeting was adjourned with the singing of three old favorite songs by the entire membership.

Waives Hearing On Car Tampering Charge

Curtis Keightley, arrested several days ago by police for tampering with automobiles, has been charged with tampering with a car belonging to Jesse Paul while it was parked on West Main street. Keightley appeared before Acting Magistrate John C. McCloskey and waived a preliminary hearing.

He is held in the county jail in default of a $2,000 bond.

Hose Cut and Auto Drained of Anti-Freeze

Police received a report from a car owner that while his car was parked at Second street and Massachusetts avenue, a thief cut the radiator hose and drained his radiator of Prestone in the car.

Prestone, an anti-freeze liquid for the automobile radiators, has become scarce and apparently some motorist decided this was the best way to take care of his car's needs for the coming winter.

Mrs. Louise Himmelhaber

A message received shortly before noon conveyed information of the death of Mrs. Louise Himmelhaber at Pekin, Ill., at the home of her son, George Himmelhaber and Mrs. Himmelhaber.

Mrs. Himmelhaber was the mother of Mrs. Henry Salvator, of 1212 South Barrett avenue, and up to last spring for a period of about nine years following the death of her husband, George H. Himmelhaber, made her home with her daughter here and Atorney Henry Salvator.

Mrs. Himmelhaber was a member of the Calvary Episcopal church, the P. E. O. sisterhood chapter, B. B. chapter and the Hen G. Steele Music club.

No information was given in the message as to funeral arrangements.

South Koreans Trudge Deeper In North Korea

By Hal Boyle

NORTH KOREA—(P)—Here is what it is like above the 38th parallel in North Korea.

An exhausted South Korean soldier sleeps in a muddy ditch, his unheeding head pillowed in the yellow dust of the roadway.

Two lines of bone-weary South Korean doughboys limp past over the stones and ruts of the road he has trudged along for more than a fortnight from deep in South Korea.

The stones have worn to tatters the rubber-soled shoes of some soldiers and they have replaced them with peasant slippers of rice straw.

But they manage a sweat-stained grin as they pass. A battered truck wheezes by—so decrepit it could be held together only by the morale of the men in it. It looks like a sardine can on wheels. But troops jammed in it are singing, shouting and waving small black, red and white flags of the Korean Republic.

The marching troops look at the riders enviously, then turn their heads to the yellow road and break into the shuffling trot typical of their infantry.

Marching with them and shouldering part of their equipment are 20 or more boys under 10 years old. They are camp followers attracted by the joy of going with the winning army—and getting a bowl of free rice. A soldier pointed to a smiling eight-year-old carrying a load of mortar shells and said: "He's my house boy."

Behind the column slowly stumbles a line of civilian laborers. Each is burdened with a wooden pack to which is tied a fresh cut log almost as wide as the road and more than six inches thick. The logs are used to bridge streams. They look heavy enough to break the back of a longshoreman but the Korean workers apparently can tote them for miles.

Weary Try to Keep Up
And behind them for hours come soldier stragglers—men too worn out to keep the killing pace, middle-aged men limping painfully, young wounded men with blood-stained bandages on cheeks, arms and legs.

But they want to catch up with the column, for there are no kitchen trucks in this army to wheel back the rice ration. Several trucks roll by within inches of the head of the soldier at the edge of the roadway. He sleeps on unheeding, then awakens, paws at his drooping eyes, yawns and shuffles on.

He looks indifferently down at the wreckage of a heavily loaded truck that has just plunged off the road and overturned in a paddy field.

The driver is crawling out holding a dangling, bleeding hand which looks so shattered one knows it must be amputated. But this is an Oriental army. The soldier, with troubles of his own, lowers his eyes to the dust and keeps on shuffling.

Some distance back he also passed with equal indifference a large sign lettered in a language he doesn't understand. The language is English and the sign says: "You are crossing the 38th parallel. Courtesy of the Third ROK (Republic of Korea) Division. We were first."

This is the arbitrary line that since 1945 has divided Korea's industrial north from its agricultural south. It is the line that separated the Russian and American occupation zones after the Japanese were thrown out of the country at the end of the last war.

It is the line from which an army representing 10,000,000 Communist-dominated North Koreans began a civil war June 25. They crossed the line to invade the territory where 20,000,000 Koreans lived under the U.N.-sponsored Republic of Korea.

On the map the 38th parallel is a special neat straight black line.

But as the ROK doughboys plod on north beyond the frontier he sees no painted demarcation or chalkmark across the winding road. To his right is the peaceful blue Sea of Japan where an American destroyer swims lazily. To his left are valleys of ripening rice and rugged, yellow eroded hills with stunned, wind-twisted pine trees and cut by dry tortuous ravines.

The hills also are scarred by army-dug ditches and pockmarked with well camouflaged empty concrete bunkers and pillboxes.

Some of the South Korean army's prepared defensive positions are north of 38. Some of the more heavily fortified posts of the North Korean army are still south of that artificial boundary. Each army has followed the time-proven military principle of building a defense line along the natural pattern of the hills.

That is how the 38th parallel looks to the individual South

Korean infantrymen and it is doubtful if he even knows he has crossed the line. The men nearest to war usually know the least about it—except its dangers.

The hoatzin, a pheasant-like bird of South America, holds enemies at bay with its objectionable odor.

Homemakers at Chaney Home

The Quisenberry Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. R. S. Haggard with Mrs. L. H. Chaney as assisting hostesses. Nineteen members and one guest were present.

After a contributive dinner the meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. G. S. Thompson. It was decided to buy a United Nations flag kit to make the flag at the October meeting. Reports on standards of achievement and on questions referring to work done in 1950 were checked.

Motion was made and carried that the same officers be re-elected for the next year.

Mrs. C. U. Chappell and Mrs. Paul Read gave a demonstration on glass etching and textile painting.

Mrs. P. S. Read presented the study, "Our Friends Abroad." The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. G. S. Thompson.

The first successful demonstration of a motion picture, made in 1889 at West Orange, N. J., showing a man sneezing.

A Salute To...

The Newspaper Boys of The Sedalia Community!

This is National Newspaper Week and Saturday, October 7th, has been designated nationally as Newspaper Boy Day—a day of recognition for all the lads of the country who through their daily handling and distribution make it possible for millions of people throughout the nation to enjoy their daily newspaper a few minutes after it is published.

The Democrat-Capital salutes all carrier boys of this community—the members of its own carrier organization as well as those boys who serve other newspapers distributed in the Sedalia area. The lessons these boys are learning today will better equip them for adult life and endeavors.

The management and the circulation staff of The Democrat-Capital is ever mindful of their responsibility to the boys who serve them. Healthy, wholesome development of the members of its carrier organization is encouraged through a year around sports program instituted by these newspapers several years ago. Also, the need for good school grades, the advantages of working in harmony, the ability to meet people and handle small business problems that arise, advancement through application, are lessons that are learned practically by Democrat-Capital carrier boys through a supervised training program ...and we believe that such training today will make for better leaders for our community tomorrow.

For a job that is being done well The Democrat-Capital is happy and proud to salute the newspaper Carrier Boy on his official day, Saturday, October 7th.

Predict 40,000 The Winning Run Be at Game

Tigers Play SMU
On Home Field
On Saturday

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6.—(P)—The Kansas Jayhawks swing into conference competition against Colorado, tomorrow in a game that will have important bearing on each team's chances in the Big Seven championship race.

Coach Jules Sikes Jayhawks, loser by seven points to T.C.U. in their opener and 46-6 victor over Denver last week, hope to better their 2-4 conference standing of 1949 and they appear to have the manpower to do it.

Colorado lost in the league to Iowa State but came back to wallop Kansas State 34-6 last Saturday.

An impressive Kansas victory would give considerable momentum to the Jayhawk sophomores headed by halfback Charlie Hoag. Colorado upset Kansas, 13-12, at Boulder last season and the Buffs should offer a dangerous attack led by fullback Merwin Hodel and sophomore passer Zack Jordan.

Missouri's 34-0 loss to Clemson last week, hasn't been reflected in advance ticket sales for the Tigers' encounter with S.M.U. at Columbia. Kyle Rote and the Mustangs, who have whipped Georgia Tech and Ohio State, could be the drawing power, however.

Assistant executive secretary A. C. Stotler predicts the Tiger-Mustang attendance will reach 40,000, which would be Missouri's biggest home crowd on record.

In other Saturday games involving Big Seven teams, Oklahoma will seek its 23rd straight victory at the expense of Texas A. & M. in Norman, Okla., and Iowa State will play host to Iowa Teachers.

Nebraska meets Minnesota at Minneapolis and Kansas State takes on Marquette at Milwaukee.

States Richards Pilot White Sox

SEATTLE, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Post-Intelligencer said tonight that Seattle Manager Paul Richards will pilot the Chicago White Sox meet year.

Announcement that Richards has signed with the American League club is expected soon, the newspaper said it had learned from an "unquestioned midwestern source."

Richards, the paper said, was offered a one-year contract but is holding out for a 529-year pact with the Sox.

Richards' Seattle team in the Pacific Coast League has hit a slump the last few weeks and has tumbled from fourth to sixth place. The team started miserably

The Winning Run

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees' centerfielder, is greeted by the team's bat boy as he scores the game winning run on his homer into the left field stands in the tenth inning of the second World Series game against the Philadelphia Phils at Philadelphia, October 5. this year, but caught fire in May and stormed from the cellar to fourth place before the late-season collapse.

In Los Angeles, however, Richards declared that "this whole thing is news to me," but added: "Sure, I've talked with Mr. Lane about it (Frank Lane, White Sox general manager), but only casually. He's never made me any concrete offer. In fact, I have never been offered a job as a big league manager."

Hustler Bill Wheeler Rates High With Coach, Teammates

With the trend in today's football placing more and more emphasis on a wide-open style of attack, the average football patron has an increasing trend to center his attention on those certain players who possess that indefinable thing called "color."

This natural, but unfortunate trend leaves without their just recognition the type of performer known as a "team man." But it is the "team man" that makes any style of offense or defensive formation click; it is the "team man" that throws the key blocks when his team has the ball, and knocks down opposing blockers to expose the ball-carrier to an open tackle when his team is on the defensive.

A "Solid Man"
To his coach and fellow-players Bill stands as a "solid man" in the alignment. He can be depended upon to carry out his assignment in the same quiet and efficient manner, no matter how tough the going gets. A typical reaction on Wheeler's ability comes from his coach Ralph Dow. "Bill Wheeler is a through, capable performer. He is endowed with drive, spirit, and a determination to win. I only wish I had more Wheelers."

Bill is no "Johnny-come-lately" to Smith-Cotton football. This is his fifth year of participation in for a 40-6 win at Liberty. Culver-Stockton took advantage of the closing seconds to move into an 18-18 tie with Quincy, Ill., college at Canton.

The Wm. Jewell-Tarkio contest sparked with lengthy touchdown runs by the home team. Tommy Cook, Kansas City, scored three of the Jewell touchdowns, one on a 95-yard kickoff return run. Another distance dash — 80 yards by Jewell's Bill Bowman — was one of three touchdowns called back on penalties.

A 35-yard touchdown pass in the closing 27 seconds of play resulted in the tie for the underdog Culver-Stockton. Rudy Billen was the tosser with John Gaughan on the receiving end.

The Missouri Valley victory settled the old score with Evansville. The Indiana school had inflicted two of the four defeats Missouri Valley suffered in the last six seasons. Bruce Webb, Mo. Valley fullback, scored a 66-yard end run the first play after the opening kickoff. Marvin Sprigg, Valley halfback, accounted for the other touchdown.

Bill Wheeler

a Tiger uniform. Last year he held down the same right tackle spot on the Bengal's conference championship squad and "Show-Me" Bowl winners. He started his career as a back, but moved to the line his sophomore year. As a sophomore he played enough varsity ball to establish himself as a starter on the 1949 team, and never has relinquished the position.

An All-Around Student
Wheeler's participation in school activities is not limited to the gridiron. He has been a member of the student council four years and headed the junior council his freshman year. His book work is of such calibre that he has won a spot on the National Honor Society. To round out his senior year Bill will serve as editor of the school paper, the "Tiger Times."

When asked about which side of football he preferred Bill gave a typical answer of player's of his type. "I'd rather play on offense; when you have the ball, the opposition can't score, and they can't beat you if they don't score." In simple words, Bill Wheeler plays to win.

M. U. Is Next Stop

After graduation this spring, Bill plans to enter the university but will devote his attentions toward the procurement of a business degree and leave football to the bigger boys.

Yankees Defense Is Air Tight

By Ted Meier
NEW YORK, Oct. 6—(AP)—Many persons seem to have overlooked the great defensive play of the Yankees against the Phils in this World Series.

Take yesterday's game in Philly for instance. The headlines went to Joe DiMaggio's game-winning homer in the tenth inning. Buried in most stories were Joe's two fielding gems that most certainly forced the game overtime.

The first came in the sixth on Del Ennis' hard smash to right center. It looked like a certain hit until DiMaggio pulled it down over his shoulder near the 400-foot mark while running at full speed with his back partly turned to the infield.

In the ninth DiMag came up with another nifty. With one out, Granny Hamner lined the ball into right center. DiMag didn't catch it this time. Instead he scooped the ball up in his gloved hand while sprinting to his left and heaved to second base. Hamner got a double, but for Joe's smart play it would have been at least a triple and maybe the break the Phils have been looking for.

DiMaggio wasn't the only Yankee star in the field. Little Phil Rizzuto at shortstop turned in a feat in the eighth inning that stifled a Phils threat.

With one out and the speedy Richie Ashburn on first, Dick Sisler attempted to sacrifice. Pitcher Allie Reynolds picked up the bunt and threw towards second base.

For a fleeting second it appeared the throw was going into centerfield, but then little Phil reached out and made a fine catch of the wide throw. He seemed to be falling as he grabbed the ball, but he kept his foot on the bag for a forceout.

The Yanks still have to make an error after 19 innings.

A wire-haired fox terrier, pet of Edward VII of England, walked in his funeral procession.

The Days Of The Tramp Printer

sand persons, from all parts of the state, arriving in wagons, bringing lunches and families for an all-day gala affair."

The Sedalia Democrat, also discussed, plays an important part in the story. The editor of the Democrat of that period was John Newman Edwards, who along with Colonel John Moore, first mayor of Denver, founded the Kansas City Times. Edwards was a staunch friend of both Frank and Jesse James. A meeting with James, who is described as "about five feet, eight inches tall, of a solid, firm, compact build, but rather on the slender type with black hair and the lower part of his face covered with dark brown whiskers" . . . is also recorded in the text.

Edward B. Burrowes, who was then a printer, but later became editor of the paper was "the best friend a 'tramp printer' ever had." He never loaned one money, but granted him a "financial lift," without any thought of ever being repaid. Often Burrowes would invite a printer to his home for dinner and then take him to the railroad station and buy his guest a ticket to St. Louis or Kansas City.

Burrowes reared a "newspaper family" of four children. Mark W. Burrowes is now city editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Arthur Burrowes is editor of the St. Joseph News-Press and Lon M. Burrowes is managing editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Miss Rosemary Burrowes has been active as news editor of the Sedalia Democrat.

Another printer of this period, Casper Yost, left the Democrat years later and became editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Yost died several years ago in St. Louis. He was well known locally for his claim of being the first white child born in Sedalia.

The author describes Sedalia in the late 1800s as a town with "a good quota of saloons, rowdies, three-card monte men, pickpockets and prostitutes." Places where one could indulge in faro, roulette and keno were also in great abundance, with "The Wine Hall," then located at 119 Main street, as the most lively.

The town was in the throes of terror often when a gang of thugs preyed upon downtown shoppers and picked pockets and took many of the easy-going cattlemen in crooked card games. The train passengers were always good for a few dollars.

One of the itinerant typographers, who were known as Missouri river pirates, "Judge" Grisby was one of the best dressed of the tramp printers. He was usually "dolled up" with frock coat, white waistcoat, striped trousers, immaculate linen and patent-leather shoes. He and the story teller met in "a little town of Knob Noster."

Other ventures in the humorously written volume take the reader to haunts all over the state and to towns and cities such as Jefferson City, Cameron, Kansas City and many, many others.

The book is published by the Mid-American Press, 3437 College avenue, Kansas City Missouri. Mr. Hicks, once publisher of a magazine for printers and newspaper editors, has been in public relations work for a large railroad system and has written numerous articles for leading printers' journals. He has also served as a field representative for the International Typographical Union. Two years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for the congressional nomination in the Fourth Missouri district on a platform of "Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act."

Officials are Split on Man Power Policy

Symington Seeks An Agreement With Gen. L. B. Hershey

By WILLARD K. MOBLEY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—W. Stuart Symington, head man in the national mobilization effort, disagreed today with some of the tough draft ideas advanced by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief.

The split showed up most clearly over armed service for scientifically trained men, but there were other points to be cleared up on how the available manpower shall be divided among the fighting forces and other defense claimants.

Symington as mobilization coordinator arranged a luncheon session tomorrow with secretary of Defense Marshall, to try for "an overall, agreed policy." Sitting in will be Secretary of Labor Tobin to whom President Truman has assigned top manpower responsibilities.

Symington Address Mayors
Symington, chairman of the National Securities Resources Board, took his stand in an address to the United States conference of mayors, meeting in special session here, and told the city executives of the plan for tomorrow's get-together.

He did not mention Hershey by name but told the mayors he feels that "our scientists should be given exemption" from military service. He said further that cities should be protected against too heavy loss of police and firemen in view of the possibility of atomic attack and consequent public emergency.

"I have read recently that some other people don't feel the same way I do about it," Symington said. "I don't see anything to do but to sit down with a great leader like Secretary Marshall and try to solve the problem."

"Sold A Lot of Baloney"
Hershey's views on who should be subject to the draft were set forth Tuesday night in a speech. He declared that Americans have been sold "a lot of baloney" about the need of blanket deferment for scientists and professional men because there are not enough of them.

"We've never had enough scientific people," the general said, "but there never are enough men over there fighting either." In another speech yesterday Hershey said selective service is ready with deferment for really qualified men but on guard against "phony" professionals seeking deferment.

The draft director also has called for induction of veterans under 26 years old, a general tighter deferment policy, and a relaxation of standards under which a high percentage of men furnished by draft boards have been ejected by the army.

Preserve The Quality
Symington indicated today that he did not have too great sympathy for the idea of cutting back mental and physical standards for service.

"We want to preserve the quality" as well as make the best possible showing in numbers against the more numerous potential enemy, he said.

Symington told the mayors that if the Communists attack America their main objectives will be to knock out this country's long-range bombing force and smash important industrial centers.

They have the atomic bomb and means to deliver it, he said. "We know they have this capacity; we have seen it in the air." "And finally, we have no adequate defense against such a sudden and devastating attack," Symington said.

Capt. G. P. Darnell Visits On Leave

Capt. G. Patrick Darnell of Rapid City South Dakota was in Warrensburg and Sedalia Wednesday and Thursday, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Darnell of Warrensburg and Mrs. G. Patrick Darnell of 700 West Fifth street.

Captain Darnell was enroute to an air base in the southwest where he will be stationed for about thirty days.

"The Old Pro"

The "Yankee Clipper's" first hit of the 1950 World Series was typical of the dramatic DiMaggio. His tenth-inning homer broke up an air-tight pitcher's duel between Allie Reynolds and Robin Roberts 2-1. The Yanks now have a 2-0 Series lead. (see col. 4).

Clout Gives Al Reynolds 2-1 Triumph

Robin Roberts Edged In Pitcher's Duel; Move to N.Y. Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5—(AP)—The one and only Joe DiMaggio lined a 10th-inning home run into the upper deck at Shibe Park to crush the luckless Philadelphia Phils again today, 2 to 1, and give the New York Yankees a probably insurmountable lead in the 1950 world series. The Yanks now lead, two games to none.

The great outfielder's telling blow, his seventh world series homer, came with none out in the first extra inning of a tense mound battle between Robin Roberts of the Phils and Allie Reynolds of the Yanks. With the count two balls and one strike against him, DiMaggio found one he liked and drove it into the spectators nearly 400 feet from the plate.

It was the veteran star's first hit of the series, and it could not have come at a more auspicious time. His bat did not figure in the Yanks' dramatic 1-0 victory over Jim Konstanty in yesterday's opener.

Today's defeat was the sixth straight by a one run margin for the Phils in world series competition. They lost the last four of the 1915 fall classic to the Boston Red Sox by that margin and now have dropped the first two of this series.

Phil's Hopes Crushed
As a result of Joe's timely wallop, which crushed the home crowd of 32,660 as surely as it all but killed the championship hopes of the Phils, the Bombers will go into the third game in their own stadium tomorrow holding a tremendous advantage over the youthful National League.

The next three games are scheduled in the Bronx. With the Yanks' ace lefthander, Eddie Lopat, ready to go tomorrow, and Whit Ford, their rookie sensation, a possibility for the fourth contest, it seemed not unlikely tonight that the defending champions might sweep the series.

Roberts Gives Real Tussle
Roberts, the 24-year old right-hander who won 20 games during the past season, gave Casey Stengel's poised outfit a real tussle today, just as Konstanty did yesterday. But again it wasn't enough. The Whiz Kids could not.

Midget Car Race Driver Again Convicted

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5—(AP)—A circuit court jury convicted Branche (Tiny) Wainwright, Kansas City midget race driver, early today for the second time.

The jury recommended two years in prison but Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair deferred sentencing for 30 days. Judge Blair granted a new trial after a similar verdict in the first trial.

Wainwright and a companion were charged with felonious assault. They allegedly tied up a Russellville farmer, Joe Henninger in a robbery attempt June 16, 1949. They got no loot.

Sedalia in the 1880s

The Days Of The Tramp Printer

"Sedalia still had many of the aspects of a frontier town" when the protagonist of the story is purely fiction and his tale of adventure through print shops, newspaper offices and towns that round Missouri, Kansas and surrounding states is packed with social history, amusing experiences and countless sidelights on this town and that.

The Sedalia portion of the book, comes in early and mentions a number of local newspaper pioneers, such as J. West Goodwin, robust editor of the old Sedalia Bazaar.

Goodwin, says the author, was full of strong opinions and made courageous policies. Born in New York state, Goodwin was really John Wesley Goodwin, but as he migrated to the west he became known as J. West. One sidelight of Goodwin's character was his sponsored excursions to public hangings over the state. In those days, says the author, a hanging "meant a crowd of several thousand persons, from all parts of the state, arriving in wagons, bringing lunches and families for an all-day gala affair."

The Sedalia Democrat, also discussed, plays an important part in the story. The editor of that period was John Newman Edwards, who along with Colonel John Moore, first mayor of Denver, founded the Kansas City Times. Edwards was a staunch friend of both Frank and Jesse James. A meeting with James, who is described as "about five feet, eight inches tall, of a solid, firm, compact build, but rather on the slender type with black hair and the lower part of

The Formosa Question to Be Discussed

Chinese Problem is Also on the Docket For Discussion

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Overriding objections from Nationalist China and the Soviet Union, the U. N. Assembly's steering committee today recommended a full airing of the question of Formosa, the last bastion of Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

The 14-member committee voted 10 to 3 for an American proposal to give the issue right of way in the assembly. In addition to Russia and China, Communist Czechoslovakia also voted against the proposal. The committee chairman, Nashrolah Entezam of Iran, did not vote.

The full assembly is expected to approve tomorrow or Saturday the committee's decision.

The steering committee also voted for an assembly hearing of fresh Soviet charges of American aggression against China. The vote was 11 to 1. China was opposed; Iran and Cuba abstaining.

Russian Complaints
The Russians already have complained against American bombing of Chinese territory before the security council and the assembly. To get the new charges before the assembly, the Russians took over as their own a complaint from Communist China that American planes had again violated Chinese territory and an American warship had fired on and searched a Chinese merchant ship.

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, called for a full debate on the charges so world public opinion can judge the facts. Nationalist China and the Soviet Union are bitter opponents in the U.N. and their strange combination against the Formosa issue came from differing motives and not on purpose.

Tsaiang Disagrees
T. F. Tsaiang, Nationalist China, said the assembly had no right to discuss the question. He maintains Formosa is Chinese territory.

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, called the American proposal an "insult" to the great Chinese people. He said President Truman had attempted a "grab" by ordering the Seventh Fleet to cover Formosa during the Korean conflict. He declared approval of the item would be the same as saying the U. N. has the complete disregard by the North Korean authorities of civilized standards of behavior as well as of the principle of the Geneva conventions despite assurances to the contrary.

Tried "To Cover Up"
When they had the time, the Reds covered the evidence of their atrocities with earth. When they were hurried, they left many bodies of their victims sprawled in open ditches or in exposed mounds.

Red Atrocities Still Mount; Murdered Numbers Estimated To be Over 25,000 Koreans

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6—(AP)—The bodies of 25,000 South Korean men, women and children—murdered for being anti-Communist—have been found in South Korea in the wake of the routed North Korean Communist invasion army.

The total is an officially estimated minimum. American officers say it may run much higher. Each day brings new disclosures of Red atrocities against South Koreans.

Some of the victims were American soldiers taken prisoner by the Communist army. The total of these is not known.

In stunned silence, the United Nations commission on Korea heard first-hand reports from its own field observers on atrocity slayings by the Reds.

The field observers' reports were read at Pusan Wednesday by Graham Lucas, the commission's acting deputy principal secretary.

The commission then messaged a preliminary report on the atrocities to U. S. Secretary-General Trygve Lie at Lake Success.

"First hand information has been obtained by the commission's field observers of the murder of civilians and prisoners of war despite assurances of the North Korean authorities that the later would be treated in accordance with the principles of the Geneva conventions," the commission told Lie.

Committed On Big Scale
"Additional evidence is currently being gathered to indicate that the atrocities have been committed on a large scale in areas formerly occupied by the North Korean authorities. These atrocities involve in some cases the brutal beating and mutilating of persons prior to being murdered."

The commission said its observers viewed more than 800 bodies of slain South Koreans in Taejon "and more were being exhumed at the time the scene of atrocities were inspected."

"The commission condemns the complete disregard by the North Korean authorities of civilized standards of behavior as well as of the principle of the Geneva conventions despite assurances to the contrary."

Suit is Termed As 'Propaganda'
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association today described an injunction suit to halt building of two Missouri REA power systems as "a reckless propaganda stunt."

Ten Missouri and Arkansas private power companies filed the suit in U. S. district court here. They asked the court to prohibit use of REA funds to build steam power plants at Chamois and Missouri City, Mo., and transmission lines.

REA super cooperatives which want to build the plants plan to sell the power and lease part of the lines to Southwestern Power Administration.

In a statement the Cooperative Association declared the suit followed "unsuccessful lobby efforts to harass, smear and misrepresent loans made by the REA to Farmers' Cooperatives for power plants and transmission lines."

Three investigations of such loans, the association said, started during the last session of Congress at the insistence of the same companies.

U. N. Forces Mass for a North Drive

Reds Are Apparently Ignoring MacArthur And Radio Demand. For Quick Surrender

By DON HUTH

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6—(AP)—United Nations troops massed today along the North Korean border while planes attacked Korean Reds giving every sign of determination to continue the war.

The planes tore at convoys totalling more than 130 vehicles.

A dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said U. S. Marines and infantrymen, British, Australian and South Korean troops have been building up along the 38th parallel for the past week.

Thursday British and Australian troops were flown by planes to new, advanced positions near the 38th.

U. N. forces available for an all-out push are estimated to total 175,000 or more.

In night-long attacks Thursday, planes of the U. S. Fifth Air Force smashed two large-scale North Korean efforts to move ammunition and equipment to Communist units setting up a defense line north of 38th. That parallel is the artificial boundary which has divided South and North Korea since the end of World War II.

Reds Attempt Stand
Information from returning pilots substantiated reports that the Reds are ignoring General MacArthur's surrender demands and intend to attempt an organized stand in North Korea after defeat in the south.

Pilots said one convoy of between 40 and 50 vehicles was broken up while moving south from Sariwon toward Cheryong. Those towns are 35 and 45 miles south of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

Another convoy was attacked as it moved east from Pyongyang toward Wonsan, industrial city on the east coast.

South Korean Third division troops, battling more than 60 miles inside North Korea up the east coast road, are within 50 air miles of Wonsan. Pilots estimated this second convoy had between 50 and 60 vehicles.

Other planes spotted a group of about 35 vehicles 40 miles north of Pyongyang at Anju. The planes sighted the group with flares then swept low in bombing and machinegun attacks. Pilots reported "excellent" results.

"Kill" 29 Trucks
In all night operations, the pilots claimed destruction of 29 trucks, 28 vehicles, three locomotives, 13 box cars and 63 or more military buildings.

Rugged infantry of the South Korean Third division slashed through land mines and barbed wire into Changjon, a small coastal town 63 road miles north of the 38th parallel.

The advance was made in a daylight clash of artillery and small arms with Reds in battalion (Please turn to Page 4, Column 4)

Cpl. Shaw is Greeted in Korea By High Official

A picture of Cpl. Harold Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shaw, 1019 East Broadway, as he landed in Korea, has appeared in magazines and papers over the United States but thus far an original picture has not reached Sedalia.

Saturday morning Mrs. Henry G. Bass, 1111 Ware avenue, called the Sedalia Democrat-Capital and said she had received a letter from a friend in Cleveland, O., her former home in which was inclosed a picture of Cpl. Shaw. The friend had noticed the outline under the picture and she asked Mrs. Bass if she knew him. Mrs. Bass did not, but she knew if Cpl. Shaw's family had not received a similar clipping they would want one, and she inquired at the newspaper where to find his parents.

Cpl. Shaw's wife, who happened to be here on a visit from Georgia, answered the telephone and although she had received a picture, or so that had been printed from other people she was glad to have another one.

"I understand," said Mrs. Shaw, "that the picture has been in papers in different places, Little Rock, New Orleans, several places in Missouri and a St. Joseph paper."

The St. Joseph publication was a food magazine and on August 11, the picture was published in the "New Home" magazine in Cleveland, O.

The picture shows the smiling young American soldier just after he landed in South Korea being welcomed by the Governor of the Prefecture in Korea. He is holding tomatoes and eggs and a group of Korean girls looking on from a background for the picture.

Cpl. Shaw has been in the army a little more than two and one half years and left from Japan the first week in July for Korea. He has been stationed in Japan since June of last year but came home on a furlough when his son, Larry, who is now nine months old, was born.

Support For Oats And Barley

The Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, announced that the price of 1951-crop oats, barley and rye will be supported under permissive provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949, through farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and purchase agreements made available by the Commodity Credit Corporation. The loans and purchase agreements will be available from harvest time through January 31, 1952.

The program is being announced at this time to give producers opportunity to plan their crops of these feed grains prior to fall planting.

The dollars-and-cents support levels for these grains will be determined in approximately the same relationship to corn as under the 1950 program, taking into consideration relative feeding value, pound for pound. Price support is mandatory for the 1951 crop of corn at between 80 and 90 per cent of parity as of October 1, 1951, the beginning of the marketing year. Since the bulk of the corn crop is planted from March through May, the corn program will not be announced until early in 1951. At that time the actual support levels for oats, barley and rye also will be announced.

Except for the support level, the programs announced today are substantially the same as those now in effect for these grains.

Any producer of these crops in 1951 as landowner, landlord, tenant or share cropper will be eligible for loans or purchase agreements. Oats to be eligible for either loans or purchase agreements must grade No. 3 or better; barley must grade No. 2 or better, or No. 3 solely on the basis of test weight. Only grain produced in 1951 will be eligible.

The loans and purchase agreements will be available to producers through the offices of county PMA committees. The loans will mature on April 30, 1952. Producers intending to deliver oats, barley or rye to CCC under purchase agreements must notify the county committee of their intentions within a 30-day period ending April 30, 1952.

Partly Announcing Engagement Of Virginia Berry

Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock an engagement announcement party was given by Mrs. Ivan A. Berry, 1710 West Eleventh street. She was assisted by Mrs. Everett Shaw and Mrs. R. C. Evans. The affair was given to announce the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Berry's daughter, Virginia Lee, to Charles Robert "Bob" Eoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Eoff, of Springfield. The date for the wedding has been set for early winter. Mr. Eoff is in the United States army and is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood.

On arrival, the guests were taken to the basement recreation room. About the room and across the mantle of the fireplace, were placed vases of yellow and gold marigolds. At the side of the room was a long lace-covered table, centered with an oval arrangement of yellow marigolds, flanked with lighted yellow tapers. In front of the floral arrangement were rows of horse-shoes and white horses, astride with gold colored men.

Miss Berry's fiancé, before his entrance into the army, was a showhorse trainer for four years. The past two years he has been assistant trainer at the Vic Johnson stables, located at the Missouri State Fair grounds. Therefore, the theme was cleverly and subtly concerned with horses. In the center of each table were real gilded horseshoes, under which were yellow marigolds, tied with gold-flecked ribbons. At each seat were place cards, with names written in gold ink and each stashed with a gilded horseshoe nail. Inside was the following poem.

"There's a special path with a special name
That's narrow and shaded—much like a lane.
The trail may be short—or it may be quite long,
And to add to its beauty is the bird with its song.
Change the spelling of this word—
Take away the saddle and halter
And the path you will find takes you right down an aisle.
That ends at the foot of the altar.
"The White Horse Knows The Answer"
The subject of the poem was a bridal path and inside each gold and white horse was a slip of paper inscribed in gold, "Virginia and Bob date."

Moving pictures of the party were taken by Mrs. Berry. The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge and canasta. High bridge award went to Mrs. Karl J. Berry and consolation to Mrs. Jerry L. One of the itinerant typographers, who were known as Missouri river pirates, "Judge" Grisby was one of the best dressed of the tramp printers. He was usually "dolled up" with frock coat, white waistcoat, striped trousers, immaculate linen and patent-leather shoes. He and the story teller met in "a little town of Knob Noster."

Red Atrocities Still Mount; Murdered Numbers Estimated to Be Over 25,000 Koreans

are being found daily in South Korean communities along the bloody Red retreat trail. Some have not yet been opened by American officers probing the slayings.

South Koreans told the officers that the atrocity victims died because they were opposed to Communism.

Partial figures on large scale slaughters definitely counted show this toll:

Seoul area, 10,000 and possibly more; Taejon, between 5,000 and 6,000, including some Americans; Wonju, between 1,000 and 2,000 including some Americans; Chinju, 12 American soldiers; Yosu, 200; Chongju, 2,400; Suchon, 280; Yangpyong, 700; Mokpo, 500.

The American investigating officers said they expect to find 450 to 500 in every fair sized town they check.

20-30 Major Cases

The war crimes investigators said between 20 and 30 other major cases have been reported but not yet checked. Also unchecked are uncounted cases of whole families in small villages being wiped out in a single night by Reds searching for food.

In one such case reported from Changhung, near Konsan, Communist soldiers armed with bamboo spears last Monday impaled 82 men, women and children after they took the village food supply.

Red troops swooped down on Chongju, about 20 miles north of Taejon, Sept. 26—after the town had been retaken by allied forces—and burned to death 150 civilians and 18 captured American soldiers.

The slaughter took place within an hour after the allied task force rolled through Chongju without knowing that the 18 captured Americans were there.

Chief South Korean victims of the Communists—were city and village officials, policemen, civilians denounced as anti-Communists and civilians who refused to conform to Communist theories.

Some of the large scale killings took place while Reds were solidly entrenched in a large part of South Korea. Survivors said there were to "punish" anti-Communists and to terrorize the entire population of a city into conforming.

In most cases, however, the slayings took place as the last act of vengeful Reds pulling out before the advance of allied troops.

right to question the status of any island in any country.

Secretary of State Acheson said at his news conference yesterday he hoped the U. N. would set up a group to study the whole question of Formosa and offer a solution. Asked if his government would admit such a group to the island, Tsiang told a reporter he would have to see the assembly's orders to such a group before commencing.

Yugoslavia Discussion

The committee also recommended that the assembly discuss a Yugoslav proposal for the condemnation of any country refusing to accept a cease fire order from the U. N. at the start of hostilities. It also recommended a second Yugoslav proposal for establishment of a permanent commission of good offices.

Finally, the committee approved a hearing for a Philippine proposal for distinctive insignia for U. N. forces in Korea.

In another important action, the 60-nation special political committee condemned Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania as wilful violators of peace treaty promises to safeguard human rights and freedoms. The vote was 39 to 5 and the item now goes to the full assembly.

In committee debate, Malik attacked loyalty checks in the United States and the Taft-Hartley labor law as "anti-Democratic." Invasions of the rights of "the defenders of peace." The charges grew out of trials of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and of protestant clergymen.

U. N. Forces Mass For a North Drive

strength backed by a company of Red Marines—probably less than 1,000 men all told.

The Republican Third division was the northernmost spearhead of a United Nations army of more than 175,000 awaiting expected orders of General MacArthur to wipe out Red resistance in all of Korea.

Only South Korean troops—and only 20,000 of them—have thus far crossed north of the 38th parallel—the arbitrary line which for five years separated with an iron curtain the Communist northern regime from the Republican government in the south.

The South Korean capital division also was north of the parallel. It engaged a by-passed Communist force, estimated at about 1,200, in the hills west of Hwangpo, 25 road miles north of the old boundary.

Reds May Regroup

Stiffening resistance by the northerners—five days after General MacArthur's broadcast demand for their capitulation—bore out reconnaissance reports of Fifth Air Force pilots.

The Reds apparently were attempting to regroup on their old pre-war defense line just north of the 38th parallel. It was from there that the Reds jumped off June 25 for their 11-point invasion of the south.

The old fortified line ran from Haeju on the west coast to the Communist interior cities of Kunchon, Chorwon and Hyachon, a big hydro-electric power center.

Intelligence reports, however, indicated only three North Korean divisions were available to defend the Red homeland now.

The Reds had committed the vast bulk of their army to the invasion of the south, and lost it when the United Nations counter-offensive and the Inchon landings of Sept. 15 snatched victory from them in one of warfare's quickest turnabouts.

Wonsan, a former industrial town noted for its Japanese-built complex of chemical plants, is another Communist strong point. It has been heavily bombed in recent months, however, and its industrial war potential has been destroyed.

600,000 See Veiled Prophet's Parade

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5—(AP)—An estimated 600,000 persons turned out last night for the annual veiled prophet parade through St. Louis streets.

Miss Eleanor Simmons Koehler, 19, the new veiled prophet queen, rode in the parade with her four special maids of honor in a break with tradition. In other years, except on a few occasions when rain has forced postponements, the parade has preceded the ball at which the identity of the queen is disclosed.

Miss Koehler was crowned at a coronation ball Tuesday night. Floats in the parade depicted the theme of "Old Songs." There were 14 bands. Singing quartets rode on several of the floats equipped with microphones and loudspeakers, and many of the spectators lining the streets joined in the singing.

Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell made the estimate of the size of the crowd on hand for the spectacle. Thousands of others saw the parade by television.

Offer by Egypt Made to UN

Would Supply Men If Others Would Provide Arms

By Max Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Egypt was reported today to have offered to contribute an army of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 men as part of a permanent international force if the United States and other United Nations members will supply the arms and equipment.

Informed quarters said the offer was made by Egyptian foreign minister Mohamed Salah-el-din at a private luncheon given yesterday by Secretary of State Dean Acheson for heads of the Arab UN delegations.

The offer was understood to have been made on the condition that British troops are withdrawn from Egyptian soil.

Salah-el-din was understood to have assured Acheson that Egypt would strongly support his proposals to strengthen the UN and prepare it to meet aggression. He then made his offer.

The Egyptian suggestion contained these major points:

1 Egypt is a vital strategic area because of the Suez canal which controls the eastern outlet of the Mediterranean. The protection of the Suez is essential to international peace, but should not be left in the hands of Britain.

2 Egypt is a country of 20,000,000 population and is capable of raising an army of 1,000,000 or 2,000,000 without difficulty, provided the arms and equipment are supplied from the outside.

3 Egypt is willing to make this force available as part of an international force and to assume the responsibility for protecting the Suez until reinforcements could be sent in by the United Nations.

4 An Egyptian force is the most logical choice for the defense of the Suez, since the troops would be fighting not only in the name of the UN but would be defending their own homeland.

The Acheson anti-aggression plan, called "uniting for peace," provides for UN members earmarking military units for UN duty. It also calls for changing the rules so the general assembly could be convened on 24 hours' notice in case the security council is paralyzed by veto.

Canada, the Philippines and others have offered publicly to make troop units available to the UN but no country has offered to build a force of such size as that mentioned by the Egyptian foreign minister.

Back to Tokyo on Peace Mission

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5—(AP)—Louis Zamperini, former University of Southern California track star, once swore vengeance against the Japanese who mistreated him during his two and a half years in a prisoner of war camp.

Today he is flying by Pan-American clipper back to Tokyo with a list of the names of his persecutors, supplied by the war crimes commission.

But it is not vengeance he seeks. Zamperini carries, he says, a message of peace and brotherly love. Tracing his one-time captors and converting them to Christianity will be part of his duties, Zamperini says, during a two-month tour of Japan under the auspices of the International Youth for Christ movement.

Zamperini was interned by the Japanese after his air force plane crashed in the sea. He survived 47 days on a life boat.
